Shofu's Proprietary Giomer Products... Essential Tools for a Healthy Smile

Dentistry is a complex business with evolving patient and product considerations. "Drill and Fill" is no longer a sufficient treatment plan for patients who increasingly; expect more aesthetic, longer lasting, and more resilient outcomes. Surface Pre-Reacted Glass filler materials and the products containing them (collectively termed "Giomers") have been widely studied for unique properties including; acid resistance, plaque and caries inhibition, and even antimicrobial effects among others. Furthermore, they provide clinicians with predictable, aesthetic, and long lasting outcomes.

This lecture will explain the nature of Giomer technology, discuss product line and features, and highlight clinical studies which demonstrate that all products are not created equal.
